(Special Correspond The Catholics of Denver visited On Saturday evening Assistant Attornoon Could be started as the Catholics of Catholics of Catholics On Saturday evening Assistant Attornoon Catholics of Ca The Catholics of Denver visited parted friends. Nearly 1,200 people filled the special train which left the Prion depot at 2,30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The unusually fine day was afternoon. The unusually fine day was partly responsible for the large num-ber in altendance at the celebration. In addition to the people who went from Denver by train there was also a large crowd from the country around the cometery, which had come by carriage, making nearly 1,400 in all. The ceme-tery was green and many graves were still covered with blooming flowers. The American flag floated over several graves and had been used in draping the lengerary platform on which the services were conducted. Seven graves were visited and blessed, some of the Knights of Si. John and some of soldiers who had fallen in the Philippine and Cuban wars. Services were had at the platform, conducted by Father Callahan. Father O'Ryan spoke, taking "Immortality" as the theme of his discourse. The train returned to benver at 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Sacred Heart Bazar.

The bazar given to raise funds for the Sacred Heart church will secure probably $1,500 in the ten days ending next Wednesday, says Secretary George Dos-tal. The receipts during the week just closed show steadily increasing profits in every department of the fair. All sorts of articles are raffled every evenng-handsome cares, chairs, fancy pil-ws, beds, dolls, bric-a-brac. One of he most attractive prizes is a doll palare two stories high, furnished com-detely and inhabited by fashionably cowned puppers. The competition for this has extended even to the elder per-(Gilson Willets in Lealie's Weekly.) And what is the cost in money of Dewey day? New York City itself ap-Dewey day? New York City itself appropriated and spent $200,000. More than half of this went for the arch and for reviewing stands—$25,500 for the arch and $75,000 for 55,000 seats. The next largest amount was $31,000 spent for fireworks. Then came $20,000 for boats in the naval parade, $13,000 for decorations, $12,500 for Leding visiting troops, $5,500 for Federshments for guests, $5,400 for bodges for the committee of 1,200, $5,000 for the lowing cup, $3,500 for sundries. By visitors and citizens the largest single expenditure was for seats. The prices for seats ranged from $1 for a tew of the least desirable on stands to $5,00 for, a window. A fair estimate of the average cost of seats is $3,50. The cash expenditure for the 500,000 seats, therecost of seats is $3.50. The cush expenditure for the 500,000 seats, therefore, amounted to $1.750,000. The next largest amount was $1,000,000 for decorations, bunting, flags, fireworks, etc. Nearly 1,000 yards of bunting were used and nearly 500,000 flags. Besides this, the soldier boys spent half a million dollars in New York for trappings, for refurbishing. New York being the center of the military coulument, busifor refurbishing, New York being the center of the military equipment, business. Every visiting militaman bought some new of needed item for his uniform or kit, the Twenty-second New York ordered 500 brand new coats and hats; bands fitted out anew from head to foot; $8,000 was spent just for white eatton gloves. Bankers estimate that at least $25,000,000 was put into circulation in New York by visitors during the week. This is based upon the conservative estimate that the average amount spent by each of the 2,500,-600 visitors was $10.
